Your demo of Westlaw Edge Advantage; and my presentation on how a law website with 43,001+ subscribers can undergo business development at the most propitious time: at the start of the nomination and confirmation of a new justice and the primaries of the mid-term elections[‡]

Ms. Elena Puig Powell Business Development Representative Thomson Reuters, the answer company 610 Opperman Drive, Eagan, MN 55123 Phone: 952-214-6346; elena.puigpowell@thomsonreuters.com

Dear Ms. Puig Powell, Thomson Reuters officers, journalists, lawyers, academics, and Advocates of Honest Judiciaries,

Thank you for your offer to "customize a quick demo for [me] with [y]our Westlaw Edge experts". I accept it. I am willing to take your call at 10:00 a.m. any day this coming week. My phone number is (718)827-9521.

What follows provides pointers on how to 'customize your demo' in light of what I do and how I have dealt with Reuters up to now.

A. The business development of a law website with 43,001+ subscribers

1. The internal support for the development

- 1. In turn, I would like to make a presentation to you, as Thomson Reuters Business Development Representative, and similarly situated Reuters officers and competitors, and all others, on the business plan to develop my website Judicial Discipline Reform at http://www.Judicial-Discipline-Reform.org.
- 2. I post there some of my law articles, which are professionally researched and written, as were those that I produced when I worked at ALRFed (American Law Reports -Federal) of Lawyers Cooperative Publishing, a unit of Thomson Reuters -Legal.
- 3. My articles are enhanced with strategic thinking: They analyze current events and propose concrete, reasonable, and feasible actions that webvisitors can take in their own interest to expose judicial abuse of power and financial criminality; collectively demand compensation; and set in motion reform through transformative change, i.e., what goes into the process of change comes out transformed into a different entity.
- 4. The emphasis on what is in it for webvisitors may account for the fact that as of February 7, the number of subscribers to my website was 43,001(Appendix 3).
 - a. How many law firms, let alone individual lawyers, do you know who have a website with so many subscribers?
 - b. Webvisitors may also appreciate the solid foundation of the posted articles, that is, my three-volume study of judges and their judiciaries, which contains(the references) made in those articles as well as here. The study is titled and downloadable thus:

Exposing Judges' Unaccountability and Consequent Riskless Abuse of Power: Pioneering the news and publishing field of judicial unaccountability reporting * † *

Open the downloaded files using Adobe Acrobat Reader, which is available for free.

- c. That study underlies the articles that I have already addressed to Reuters:
 - 1) .../OL2/DrRCordero-Reuters_judges_investigation.pdf
 - 2) .../OL2/DrRCordero_your_story_for_Reuters.pdf
 - 3) .../OL2/DrRCordero-Reuters_Law_Firm_Council.pdf

2. The external support for the business development of the site

- 5. The financial criminality of federal judges has been exposed by none other than The Wall Street Journal in a series of articles beginning with the one cited in the article hereunder.
- 6. Thomson Reuters itself engaged in the exposure of state judges' abuse of power in its three-part report "The Teflon Robe", whose first part it published on June 30, 2020, discussed here.
- 7. The possibility of obtaining compensation for the abuse suffered attracts potently the attention of all sufferers, who unable to overcome their outrage at their loss and pain must persist in their quest for justice.
- 8. The need for judicial reform is indisputable, for it underlies the Biden Commission for the reform of the Supreme Court, which submitted its report to the President on December 8, 2021.
 - a. The Commission is composed of current law professors at top schools who clerked for justices and judges(article hereunder, paragraph 24.c.2). They either suffered abuse or witnessed it. They may even have been forced to carry it out under pain of having their budding careers damaged by a judge's or justice's lackluster or outright unfavorable letter of recommendation that the clerks need when seeking a job at the end of their clerkship(OL2:645§A). Devastating damage can be subtly coded, such as 'at times, this law clerk has reservations about the instructions concerning the work to be done'. The way to avoid such damage is by submitting unquestionably, even abjectly.

b. Reuters can offer professors and law clerks, who have valuable inside information, the opportunity to make a clean breast of it, even redeem themselves, either openly or discreetly, whether individually or collectively.

3. A free informational site developed into a research-investigative for profit center

- 9. The business development of my website should be of interest to you because its subscribers are the type of highly-educated and well-off professionals that read long form and intellectually demanding articles published in the likes of The New York Times Sunday Edition, The New Yorker, The Washington Post, TIME, The Atlantic, etc....and even ask for more through a subscription.
- 10. Those subscribers constitute the initial and promising customer base to whom the development of the website would cater. The development entails two intertwined aspects:
 - a. one inside, that is, the enlargement of the site's Information Technology features; and
 - b. the other outside, consisting of a multidisciplinary academic and business venture.
- 11. The aim is to develop the site from a free informational platform into a for-profit researchinvestigative center intent on advancing the public interest and guided pragmatically by the motto "Making Money While Doing Justice".
- 12. The development of the site will apply the economic model of the radio, the TV, and almost all websites: basic contents are for free, while premium contents and enhanced functionality are accessible for a fee.
- 13. So, the site will keep providing free access to information to the public at large. Thereby it will implement the out-of-court inform and outrage strategy to form a national, apolitical, civic movement for judicial abuse of power exposure, compensation of abusees, and reform.
 - a. In addition, it will be capable of accepting information uploaded by webvisitors, such as their stories and complaints about the abuse by judges that they have suffered or witnessed.
- 14. Moreover, the site will offer access for a fee to, among other things:
 - a. statistical, linguistic, and literary analysis that is computer-assisted, uses natural language, and runs on a large number of court and non-court writings to audit them in search of the most persuasive type of evidence: patterns of abuse and schemes of financial criminality. This will be the work of the site as a research center; and
 - b. the findings of the media, i.e., outlets and journalists, whose investigative work the center coordinates or to which it offers a common outlet, as do AP (Associated Press); the International Consortium of Investigative Journalists in Washington, DC.; and PBS Washington Week.
- 15. For instance, the developed site will conduct research and investigative work into how:

- a. the math of abuse of power demonstrates mathematically that circuit judges do not read the overwhelming majority of briefs. Federal official statistics(OL2:457§D) and the decisions posted on court sites show that federal circuit judges dispose of 93% of appeals in reasonless, ad-hoc, fiat-like orders: They lack any discussion of any facts or law, and their only operative words are "denied" or "affirmed". They are workload-evading, court clerk-rubberstamped 5¢ dumping forms!
 - Thereby judges knowingly and thus intentionally cause the waste of the $Ks and even $10Ks that it costs each party to conduct research and discovery and produce, print, bind, serve, and file a brief together with its supporting record and exhibits. That constitutes false advertisement of, and breach of contract for; judicial services; fraud; and compensable waste.
 - 2) Judges who hear oral arguments without having read the corresponding briefs and supporting materials have no idea whatsoever of the issues and claims at stake. Nevertheless, they determine them, doing so perfunctorily and arbitrarily on the fly, the harm to the parties and due process of law notwithstanding.
- b. judges intercept people's mail and emails to detect and suppress those of their critics. By so doing, judges deny We the People their right to privacy and deprive them of their most cherished rights, namely, those guaranteed in the 1st Amendment to the Constitution to "freedom of speech, of the press, the right of the people peaceably to assemble [through the Internet and on social media too], and to petition the Government [of which judges are the third branch] for a redress of grievances [including through the payment of compensation]";
- c. judges have been and continue to be protected through a cover-up of their abuse of power and financial criminality by Attorney General Merrick Garland, the former Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, in Washington, DC;
- d. justices have afforded and continue to afford such protection, e.g., Then-Judges, Now-Justices:

Cf. Antonin Scalia(OL2:646§D);
Stephen G. Breyer(jur:65fn105 and fn154);
Clarence Thomas and Samuel A.
Alito(jur:149fn275); and other justices(jur:71§4).

B. The most propitious time for the site's business development: at the start of a justiceship nomination and the primaries

1. A justiceship nomination focuses national attention on the nominator and the nominees

16. The process of nominating the successor to retiring Justice Stephen Breyer has already focused national attention on President Biden because of his pledge to nominate the first Black woman to the Supreme Court.

a. Investigating the honesty of nominator Biden

17. The honesty or lack thereof of President Biden as the nominator of the new justice can be assessed, to begin with, by investigating his work as one of the 'shepherds', together with Sen. Chuck Schumer and Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand, through the Senate confirmation process of Then-nominee

Judge Sonia Sotomayor despite the doubts that the media raised about the truthfulness of her financial disclosure reports(jur:65§§a-c). Those doubts pointed to her concealment of assets.

- a. Concealing assets is the crime that precedes the crimes of tax evasion and money laundering; it is preceded in turn by any crime committed to acquire the assets.
- b. The commission of any of those crimes, in particular, and any crime, in general, betrays contempt for the law and the rights of, and harm to, the victims. A criminal cannot be reasonably expected to apply the law "faithfully and impartially", as required of judges by the oath of office(28 U.S.C. §453). Criminal conduct and even the appearance of it(id., §455) impair trust in the judge's commitment to administering justice according to law. They are automatic disqualifiers for judicial office.
- c. People who assist a criminal to be nominated and confirmed to judicial office impair their own honesty. They disqualify themselves as nominators.
- 18. To carry more weight, the media should coordinate their asking of the President the question that Sen. Howard Baker, the co-chair of the Senate Watergate Committee, famously asked of every witness at the 1973-1974 Watergate hearings: "What did the President know and when did he know it?"
- 19. To lay the baseline of the answer the media should demand that President Biden release the secret reports produced by the FBI upon its vetting J. Sotomayor in connection with her nomination to the district and circuit courts and the Supreme Court.
 - a. To conduct its vetting, the FBI can exercise powers that the media lack: power of subpoena, search and seizure, arrest and detain, and contempt, which are strengthened by the powers of grand jury empanelment, indictment, and prosecution of the Department of Justice.
- 20. There are solid grounds for demanding and obtaining the release of the FBI's vetting reports on judicial candidates and nominees:
 - a. The Masters of all public servants, including judicial public servants, are We the People in "government of, by, and for the people", as President Abraham Lincoln said in his Gettysburg Address on November 19, 1863. The People have the right to know about the honesty of those who may become or already are their public servants. This is especially the case concerning federal judges, who are appointed for life. What is more, they wield the most power over people's property, liberty, and all the rights and duties that frame their lives and shape their identity.
 - 1) Yet, federal judges are in practice unimpeachable and irremovable: In the 233 years since the creation of the Federal Judiciary in 1789, the number of federal judges impeached and removed is 8! To gauge the significance of that number one can use the number of federal judicial officers on the bench on September 30, 2020: 2,341.
 - b. President Biden made the electoral promise to run the most transparent administration.
 - c. His moral capacity to make an honest nomination will be impeached by showing that he knew of any concealment of assets by J. Sotomayor.
 - d. The release of the FBI reports is supported by the jurisprudence that has been developed by the judges themselves when they have handled suits against:
 - 1) pedophilic priests and the cover-up of their crimes by the Catholic Church, whose invocation of the separation of church and state doctrine was unable to exempt it from the duty to produce documents and comply with other discovery requests of plaintiffs;

- 2) the suits for sexual predation against officers of, and the Boys Scouts of America, which as a result declared bankruptcy; and
- 3) officers and doctors of the USA Gymnastics, the U.S. Olympic and Paralympic Committee, the University of Michigan, and Michigan State University, including Dr. Larry Nassar, who was convicted and sentenced to 40 to 175 years in prison.
- e. The "equal protection of the law" clause of the 14th Amendment of the Constitution is the provision that the People as well as the media, plaintiffs, and their lawyers can invoke to force the conniving politicians of a subservient state to stop 'protecting from the law' the judges and justices whom they put on the bench and who have carved out for themselves the State of Judges Above the Law.
- 21. The media can investigate the honesty of nominator Biden and J. Sotomayor by conducting the proposed "Follow the money!" investigation(OL:194§E).
 - a. A similar investigation led to the imprisonment of 'All the President's Men', that is, all of President Nixon's White House aides. That investigation was initiated by The Washington Post and its rookie reporters Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward with the support of Publisher Katharine Graham and Executive Editor Ben Bradlee. They pursued the break-in at the Democratic National Committee at the Watergate building in Washington, DC, on June 17, 1972.
 - b. As a result, they were derided for wasting their time on "a garden variety burglary by five plumbers". Yet, they persisted. Their series of reports set in motion an investigative bandwagon on which journalists and media outlets had to climb under commercial and reputational pressure. That is how a generalized media investigation exposed a political espionage conspiracy, illegal campaign financing, and abuse of power to intimidate people opposing the reelection of Nixon. It led to his resignation on August 8, 1974.
 - c. The Washington Post won the Pulitzer Prize for Public Service in 1973. Reporters Woodward and Bernstein wrote the bestseller "All the President's Men" and were played by Robert Redford and Dustin Hoffman, respectively, in the homonymous blockbuster movie. For their superior journalistic instinct, competence, and courage, they and Publisher Graham and Editor Bradlee entered history.
 - d. Those are some of the rewards that await Thomson Reuters, its journalists, and the rest of the media for investigating the honesty of justiceship nominator Biden and...

b. Investigating the honesty of the justiceship candidates and the actual nominee

- 22. The honesty or lack thereof of the potential and actual nominees to succeed Justice Breyer can be exposed by:
 - a. a coordinated demand by the media for the release of their respective FBI secret reports; and
 - b. the analysis of the official statistics of their respective court(and OL2:1176). They will reveal how those judges have either dismissed as chief circuit judges 100% of complaints about fellow judges, as did former Chief Judge and current A.G. Garland, and denied as members of their circuit judicial council(28 USC §332) 100% of petitions to review those dismissals, as did Then-Judge Sotomayor and her fellow justices who were judges; or condoned such handling of complaints by implicitly or explicitly entering a complicit reciprocal exoneration agreement with fellow judges.

- 1) Congress entrusted judges with self-disciplining authority under the Judicial Conduct and Disability Act of 1984(28 US.C. §§351-364). Judges abuse it in order to grant their fellow judges and themselves self-exoneration. They have made themselves untouchable: The Unaccountable.
- 2) By contrast, they have intentionally disregarded the complainants and the rest of the public, leaving them abused, uncompensated, and at the mercy of judges thus emboldened by such assurance of the risklessness of their abuse.
- 3) Thereby judges break their oath of office(28 U.S.C §453) "to do equal right to the poor [in fellow judges] and to the rich [in power to reciprocate the exoneration]".
- 4) That amounts in effect to judges' self-interested, illegal abrogation of that Act of Congress. Yet, they took an oath to "faithfully and impartially [apply] the Constitution and the laws of the United States" (id.)
- c. the demonstration that the justiceship candidates and nominee engage in waste-causing conduct, deceptive advertisement of, and breach of contract for, judicial services, and fraud because they:
 - 1) fail to read most briefs; and
 - 2) have organized or condone judges' interception of people's mail and emails to detect and suppress those of their critics.

c. Consequences of exposing the dishonesty of nominator Biden and the justiceship candidates and nominee

- 23. There will hardly remain any judge who is not tainted by abuse of power and financial criminality committed as a principal or an accessory; and participation in a cover-up through willful blindness, willful ignorance, and "three monkey" dereliction of duty(jur:88§§a-d).
- 24. The sheer pervasiveness of such conduct will reveal abuse and criminality as judges' institutionalized modus operandi. Similar to Bernstein's description of Nixon's White House as "a criminal enterprise", the Federal Judiciary is a rogue institution run by unaccountable, Above the Law judges and justices as a racketeering enterprise.
- 25. Will you or the national public want any of them to be elevated to the Supreme Court as a lifeappointed justice...or even remain in the Federal Judiciary in any capacity?
- 26. Far from it, informed thereof, the national public will be outraged. It will compel an official investigation and reform of the judicial system through transformative change.
 - a. That change can start with the dissolution of the Federal Judiciary. It was created by the Judiciary Act of 1789. Hence, it is by no means the same as "the judicial Power of the United States" provided for under Article III, Section 1, of the Constitution. That power is "vested in one Supreme Court". However, justices and judges only "hold their Offices during good Behaviour". Committing abuse of power and financial criminality constitutes legally and ethically 'bad Behaviour'. Those who commit them by definition no longer "hold their Offices".

- b. To establish such commission there is no need to resort to the cumbersome procedure of impeachment and removal, which in practice has been rendered useless by politics. Regular trials before juries will suffice.
- c. Even before the need for trials judges may resign. A series of resignations may render inevitable the resignation of the Supreme Court justices en banc, that is, all of them simultaneously. Solid precedent makes those resignations a reasonable expectation.
 - 1) Former 9th Circuit Chief Judge Alex Kozinski resigned on December 18, 2017, to end a sexual harassment investigation that Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr., had directed the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals to conduct.
 - 2) Circuit Judge Maryanne Trump Barry, the sister of President Donald Trump, resigned from the 3rd Circuit on February 11, 2019, upon being informed that she was under investigation for participating in her father's distribution of assets to his children through an inheritance tax-evading fraud scheme.
 - 3) Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas was nominated by President Lyndon Johnson to become chief justice. The media investigated him. Life magazine revealed improprieties on his part that caused such public outrage as to force him to withdraw his name from the nomination. However, Life kept investigating him and revealed even more improprieties. The outrage became so intense that it made his holding office untenable. Justice Fortas resigned from the Supreme Court on May 14, 1969(jur:92§d).
- d. Those resignations and an informed and outraged national public may precipitate the dissolution of the Federal Judiciary.
- e. An outraged public in self-assertive voting mood can also demand that Congress convene the constitutional convention that 34 states have requested since April 2, 2014. Thereby they have satisfied the amending requirements of Article V of the Constitution of 1789, which replaced the Articles of Confederation of 1781. The Constitution can in turn be replaced by the Masters of all public servants, including judicial public servants, who get rid of "the dead men's hand" of 233 years ago and with the hand of men and women living today write their own Constitution: We the People.

2. The public is strongest and politicians weakest at the start of primaries, when they must announce their platform

- 27. Politicians running in the primaries and the mid-term elections will feel it necessary to appear to respond to the demands of an informed and outraged public to hold judges and justices accountable for their exercise of judicial power and liable to compensate their abusees. That will include holding a transparent justiceship nomination and confirmation.
 - a. Politicians are most vulnerable and the public is strongest when the former depend on the latter for donations, volunteer campaign work, positive word of mouth, and votes.

C. Concrete, reasonable, and feasible actions that Reuters can take now

- 28. Rather than cede the opportunity to The Wall Street Journal, The Washington Post, and other competitors, Thomson Reuters can seize it to make the scoop of a lifetime.
 - a. A recent precedent for that is the publication by The New York Times and The New Yorker on October 5 and 10, 2017, respectively, of their exposés of Harvey Weinstein's sexual abuse. Within a week the MeToo! movement erupted globally. The world has not been the same since.

- b. Reuters can publish one or a series of my articles already written and available for review(Appendix 6§A); and commission new articles, e.g., on the nomination and confirmation of a new justice, of which this article is a preview that I can edit as required.
- c. Such article(s) can launch here and abroad a civic movement of informed and outraged people who demand their right to hold their judicial public servants accountable for the public power entrusted to them for the public good, and liable to compensate the victims of their abuse.
- 29. Moreover, Reuters can employ its enormous prestige and resources to promote and organize the proposed UNPRECEDENTED CITIZENS HEARINGS.
 - a. The citizen hearings will be held by media outlets, journalists, professors, and students of law, journalism, business, Information Technology, and social sciences.
 - b. Their venue will be media stations, university auditoriums, and video conferences, which will make participation and attendance possible everywhere and inexpensive.
 - c. The citizens hearings will afford people a chance to do what is an essential element of their quest for justice: tell their stories to the public and let out that feeling that is burning them inside with pain and humiliation:

The judges had all the power...

and i was nothing!

d. The national mood is ripe for listening to them, for their stories will resonate with the public as has the self-assertive rallying cry of the MeToo! and BLM movements and those against police brutality, and for racial and socio-economic equality:

Enough is enough! We won't take any abuse from anybody anymore.

- 30. The business development of my website can include a program in the public interest to give rise to a niche practice for practicing lawyers, the glut of unemployed lawyers, and hardly employable law students and recent graduates. They will be able to assist current, former, and even prospective parties to lawsuits in forming local chapters for the collective demand to local judges and their courts that they pay compensation for their abuse of power and financial criminality.
 - a. That demand is predicated on "the equal protection of the law". Upon it judges themselves have held liable doctors and their hospitals, lawyers and their law firms, police officers and their departments, priests and their churches, sports coaches and their organizations, etc.
- 31. Indeed, this is the most propitious time for Reuters to undertake the proposed business development of my website and thereby seize the opportunity to lead transformative judicial reform by Pioneering the news and publishing field of judicial unaccountability reporting...or it can let courageous, principled, and ambitious competitors do so.

I look forward to hearing from you to discuss when you would like me to make to you and your colleagues and guests the presentation on the business development of my website, in person if here in New York City; otherwise, via video conference.

Dare trigger history!...and you may enter it.

D. Every meaningful cause needs resources for its advancement; none can be continued, let alone advanced, without money

32. Lip service advances nothing; but it continues to enable the abusers.

- 35. turn the website at http://www.Judicial-Discipline-Reform.org -whose articles(Appendix 6§A) have attracted countless webvisitors and elicited in them such a positive reaction that 43,001 (App.3) have become subscribers as of February 7, 2022- from an informational platform, into:
 - a. a clearinghouse for complaints against judges that anybody can upload;
 - b. a research center for fee-paying clients auditing judges' decisions and searching many other writings from many sources that through computer-assisted statistical, linguistic, and literary analysis can reveal the most persuasive type of evidence: judges' patterns, trends, and schemes of abuse of power, e.g.; their interception of people's emails and mail; and
 - c. the digital portal of the business venture leading up to the Institute of Judicial Unaccountability Reporting and Reform Advocacy attached to a university or news network;
- 35. organize and embark on a tour of presentations to you and your group of guests; at law, journalism, business, and Information Technology schools; media outlets; etc., via video conference or, if in NY City, in person. To assess my capacity to present view my video and follow it on its slides;
- 36. hold together with academics, media outlets, and journalists, the proposed UNPRECEDENTED CITI-ZENS HEARINGS, where people will be able to tell the national public their stories of judges' abuse;
- 37. organize the first-ever, and national conference on judges' abuse in connivance with politicians, who fear their power of retaliation, where the report on the citizens hearings will be presented;
- 38. publish as its sequel an academics/journalists multidisciplinary Annual Report on Judicial Unaccountability and Riskless Abuse of Power-cum-citizens inspector general report on the judiciary;
- 39. launch an abuse investigation that attracts ever more media because Scandal sells & earns Pulitzers;
- 40. promote the formation of a national, single issue, apolitical, civic movement for judicial abuse of power exposure, compensation of abusees, and reform through transformative change(¶77); etc.(¶48).

After The Wall Street Journal published its article on 28Sep21

"131 Federal Judges Broke the Law by Hearing Cases Where They Had a Financial Interest", scores of judges have recused themselves and opened the door for retrials

Outline of the webinar and consulting services on holding those judges, the peers who covered for them, and their supervisor, i.e., the Federal Judiciary, liable for the cost of retrials and the disentanglement of contracts and actions based on void and voidable decisions; judges' failure to read the overwhelming majority of briefs; and their interception of people's mail and emails to detect and suppress those of their critics; and exposing their coordinated abuse of power and financial criminality at UNPRECEDENTED CITIZENS HEARINGS[‡]

A. Top media outlets & a VIP have exposed law-breaking unaccountable judges

- 1. The Wall Street Journal, published on November 2, 2021, "Hidden Interests Federal Judge Files Recusal Notices in 138 Cases After WSJ Queries. Rodney Gilstrap initially argued he didn't law"; James.Grimaldi@wsj.com, Joe.Palazzolo@wsj.com, violate financial-conflicts Coulter.Jones@wsj.com. (See the articles referred to in this section here and at Appendix:6§C.22.)
- 2. Thomson Reuters, with 2,500+ journalists and 600+ photojournalists, published on June 30, 2020, the first of its three-part report "The Teflon Robe", John.Shiffman@thomsonreuters.com and Michael.Berens@thomsonreuters.com, on its massive investigation of state judges. It found that "hardwired judicial corruption" intertwines state judges and the state commissions on judicial performance that are duty-bound to supervise and discipline them. Reuters asked readers to send it their stories of abuse by judges...and it was "inundated" with them because they want to tell them.
- 3. The Boston Globe published on September 30, 2018, its investigative report "Inside our secret courts", Jenn Abelson, Nicole Dungca and "Todd Wallack" <twallack@gmail.com>, patricia.wen@globe.comrs.com, spotlight@globe.com, in whose "private criminal hearings, who you are -- and who you know-- may be just as important as right and wrong".
- 4. Senator Elizabeth Warren, in her "I have a plan for the Federal Judiciary too", dare denounce judges' unaccountability and their abuse of it by refusing to recuse themselves from cases in which they own stock in one of the parties before them in order to steer the cases so as to protect and increase the value of their stock. Sen. Warren refers to their grabbing as 'abusive self-enrichment'.
- 5. The International Consortium of Investigative Journalists (ICIJ), in Washington, D.C., published on October 3, 2021, the Pandora Papers, that is, close to 12 million financial documents leaked to it. "More Than 600 Reporters Around The Globe Work With ICIJ On The Most Expansive Leak Of Tax Haven Files In History". The expertise that ICIJ has gained in applying document scanning software and money tracking techniques can be applied to exposing judges' illegal flow of money.
- 6. See also my three-volume study of judges and their judiciaries based on professional law research and writing, and strategic thinking. The study is titled and downloadable thus:

B. What the law and their Code of Conduct require from judges; their disregard

- 8. The federal law that imposes on federal judges the legal duty to recuse themselves from cases in which they or their relatives have a financial interest is found in Title 28 of the U.S. Code (of federal law only) section 455. Disqualification of justice, judge, or magistrate judge(28 USC §455). See also 28 USC §144. Bias or prejudice of judge.
- 9. Title 18 USC contains the federal Criminal Code. It unambiguously imposes on everybody in general, and judges in particular, the duty to report crimes under federal law:
 - a. 18 USC §4. Misprision of felony

Whoever, having knowledge of the actual commission of a felony cognizable by a court of the United States, conceals and does not as soon as possible make known the same to some judge or other person in civil or military authority under the United States, shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than three years, or both.

- b. Under §3057, federal law imposes a reporting duty on any judge "having reasonable grounds for believing [which is a standard lower than "probable cause to believe" –a cause that makes the belief more likely than not– and much lower than "evidence"] that any violation under chapter 9 [on bankruptcy, the classification of over 70% of all cases filed in the Federal Judiciary] of this title [18] or other laws of the United States relating to insolvent debtors, receiverships or reorganization plans has been committed, or that an investigation should be had in connection therewith [which lowers the "reasonable grounds for believing" standard.
- 10. Canon 2 of the Code of Conduct for U.S. Judges imposes on judges an even broader ethical duty by requiring that "Judges avoid impropriety and even the appearance of impropriety".
- 11. Judges protect themselves by abusing the self-disciplining authority granted them by Congress in the Judicial Conduct and Disability Act of 1980(28 USC §§351-364): They dismiss 100% of complaints filed against them and deny 100% of petitions to review their dismissals. This is shown by their official statistics, which by law(28 USC §603(h)(2)) they must file with Congress as a public document in the Annual Report of the Director of the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts(§604(a)(3) and (4)), who is appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court(§601).

C. Causes of action arising from judges' abuse of power and financial criminality

- 12. The demand for compensation will be supported by, among others, the following causes of action. They are part of the outline that I can elaborate on if lawyers, their clients, or pro ses retain me to present my webinar, consult, write a statement or a brief, or commission an article for publication. See a list of articles already written and downloadable for review at Appendix 6§A.
 - a. conflict of interests resolved in self-interest;
 b. fraud by misleading the parties into thinking that the judges would conduct a fair and impartial process, resulting in harm to the parties;
 c. concealment of assets;
 d. tax evasion;
 e. money laundering;
 f. embezzlement of public power for personal gain;
 g. breach of the oath of office to uphold the Constitution and the laws thereunder, so that the intended beneficiaries of the oath and the judges' taking it are all actual and potential parties, who can reasonably rely on it, derive a reliance interest by doing so, and are harmed by the frustration of the interest when the oath is breached; h. intentional disruption of business relations (contracts foreseeably based on biased, void or voidable decisions) i. intentional waste and misuse of public resources

- j. filing misleading and false mandatory annual financial disclosure reports under the Ethics in Government Act of 1978(Appendix to 5 USC); k. dereliction of the duty requiring the judges on the all-judge-Committee on Financial Disclosures –appointed by the Chief Justice– of the Judicial Conference of the U.S.(28 USC §331) –presided over by the Chief– to review with due diligence reports that all judges must file annually with the Committee;
- 1. implicit or explicit conspiracy between her, a judge, to cover his crime, that of another judge -the principal offender- by not reporting him, whereby she became an accessory after the fact, and facilitated his commission of another crime by creating his expectation that she would not report him, whereby she became accessory before the fact and a party to the complicit mutual protection agreement that either would cover for the other if need be.
- 13. Tort liability can be predicated on the duty of a chief judge, the circuit judicial council, and the Judicial Conference to supervise and control the conduct of other judges; their abuse or criminality; and the resulting harm to the victim(28 USC §§331-332; 351-364). This applies respondeat superior principles in a principal-agent relationship and negligent/reckless hiring, supervision, and retention; e.g. the Chief Justice appoints the all-judge disciplinary committee(§331); and each court of appeals vets, appoints, and removes its bankruptcy judges(§152). Such application is justified on the grounds that judges themselves have developed to hold liable:
 - a. the Catholic Church and its dioceses for their pedophilic priests' crimes and the cover-up, in which the Church/dioceses engaged either on an individual basis or as a routine practice that was part of an institutionalized policy (91 Am. Jur. Trials 151; 101 A.L.R. 5th 1; Doe v. Apostolic Assembly of Faith in Christ Jesus, 452 F. Supp. 3d 503 (W.D. Tex. 2020);
 - b. USA Gymnastics, the U.S. Olympic and Paralympic Committee, the University of Michigan, and Michigan State University for the sexual abuse of student athletes by their sports of-ficers and doctors, e.g., Dr. Larry Nassar, convicted and sentenced to 40-175 years in prison.
- 14. A familiar principle can be adapted: '[financial criminality] Too big [for the Judiciary] to fail to know'. That allows the application of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO; 18 USC §1961 et seq.) to the judges' running the Judiciary as a racketeering enterprise. The coordination between judges and the judges on the Judicial Conference Committee on Financial Disclosure that rubberstamp their reports can be charged as a racketeering activity. All must file an annual report; consequently, all benefit from reports being reviewed only pro forma.

D. IN-COURT filings that in addition discuss causes of action for compensation

15. An individual's demand for compensation from judges and their Judiciary is summarily dismissed by judges relying on the Supreme Court in Pierson v. Ray, 386 U.S. 547 (1967), (judges' "immunity applies even when the judge is accused of acting maliciously and corruptly"; and Stump v. Sparkman, 435 U.S. 349 (1978), ("A judge will not be deprived of immunity because the action he took was in error, was done maliciously, or was in excess of his authority".) Such assurance by the Court has fostered judges' impunity mindset: 'Once on the bench, forever here no matter what.' Yet, the Constitution contradicts the judicial immunity doctrine that judges have abusively concocted as a means of anticipatory self-exoneration.

16. A class action, e.g., under Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or its state counterparts, is very expensive; the lawyer bringing it may not be appointed class counsel; the proposed settlement may not be approved; and even if won, an appellate court may decertify the class by declaring that 'the interests of the plaintiffs are not common enough to permit their formation of a class'.

1. Joining with other similarly situated parties; and with journalists

- 17. However, lawyers, their clients, and pro ses can join forces to collectively demand compensation from judges and their Federal Judiciary. By applying a method, they can find other similarly situated parties, that is, those who have appeared before the same judge or in the same court. If they are disciplined enough to focus only on the single issue of compensation, they can form a local chapter of demanders. Progressively, the chapters can coalesce into a national movement. Its precedent is the Tea Party –*T*axed *E*nough *A*Iready–, which went from local chapters advocating the single issue of no new taxes to a national party.
 - a. Federal judges and their Judiciary are the model of their respective state counterparts; their jurisdiction is national, so they make decisions that affect everybody in our country. Concentrating to begin with on exposing their unaccountability and consequent abuse of power and financial criminality will outrage the national public and create the momentum to expose state judges and their judiciaries.
- 18. Judges process complaints against judges secretly. Initially, they may also dismiss collective demands for compensation. But they will have to do so publicly, just as they dismiss any other demand in a case. Thereby they will expose the prerogative that they have arrogated to themselves: 'Judges Can Do No Wrong, hence, we need not compensate anybody'. Making this known to a national public with no tolerance for political and socio-economic inequalities will cause outrage.
- 19. To give publicity to their demand for compensation, the demanders can hire WSJ, Thomson Reuters, and Boston Globe journalists, those of the International Consortium of Investigative Journalists, and others of similar high reputation as investigators of judges in one or many cases and in the same court; and as expert witnesses in judicial abuse and criminality. A new parties-journalists relation can develop.
- 20. Motions can be filed to void judges' self-interested decisions and disentangle contractual relations based on them. They can petition the recusal of judges in whom trust has been lost for breaking the law even in other cases, for 'He who can break the law once can break it more easily twice'. A new niche practice for lawyers can develop.
- 21. The demanders can claim standing based on their acting in the public interest to attain the common good of an honest judiciary. They can demand that judges disgorge any benefits received from breaking the law, invoking to that end Son of Sam principles and the successful forcing of former Vice President Spiro Agnew to give up the bribes that he had grabbed as Governor of Virginia.

2. Discussion based on the Constitution's "equal treatment" clause

- 22. Defendants, parties, and abusees can invoke the 14th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution to demand "equal treatment" under law:
 - a. Defendants can demand to be treated equally to the 131 judges who broke the law by hearing cases where they had a financial interest, none of whom has been investigated. None will be prosecuted(jur:81§C.1), lest judges individually and as a class devastatingly retaliate against the prosecutor and her office(Lsch:17§C). Far from it, once a judge resigns, all investigation by their Judiciary ends and he collects his full pension. Yet, under Const., Art. III, §1, judges hold office and have a salary guarantee only "during good Behaviour".

- 1) Former 9th Circuit Chief Judge Alex Kozinski resigned on December 18, 2017, to end a sexual harassment investigation that Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr., had directed the 2nd Circuit to conduct. He is even practising law as a lawyer.
- 2) Circuit Judge Maryanne Trump Barry, the sister of President Donald Trump, resigned on February 11, 2019, upon being informed that she was under investigation for participating in her father's distribution of assets to his children through an inheritance tax-evading fraud scheme.
- 3) No investigation, let alone a prosecution, of fellow judges will be authorized by Attorney General Merrick Garland, the former chief judge of the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit, and as such their peer, colleague, principal and/or accessory, and thus accomplice. Defendants can object to A.G. Judge Garland's and DoJ's selective prosecution that gives the class of judges protection from the law.
- b. Parties can claim a privilege to equally evade the disclosure and discovery duties and sanctions of Rules 26-37 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, as would do judges if sued for compensation by claiming that the judicial immunity doctrine concocted in self-interest protects them with a privilege against disclosure and discovery.
 - 1) Judges claim would show their disregard for "traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice"; cf. International Shoe Co. v. Washington, 326 U.S. 310 (1945), which provide, among other things, for trials to produce not only "the truth", but also "the whole truth" as a requisite for the just and fair application of the law.
 - 2) Chief Justice Roberts, who presided over the impeachment trial in the Senate of President Trump, condoned the defending party's refusal on a claim of privilege to produce any piece of evidence requested by the prosecuting party. He set a precedent.
 - 3) Such claim by judges upheld by fellow judges would provide the precedent for parties to claim an established privilege, e.g., attorney-client privilege, or even make one up, e.g., 'private corporation executive officer privilege', and pretend that it justifies the denial of any disclosure and discovery whatsoever...or even dispense with the need for a privilege and simply self-servingly characterize the suit as "a hoax", "a witch hunt", or "abuse of process".
 - 4) If the precedent is recognized, allowing all parties greater scope to deny disclosure and discovery will gravely disrupt the system of justice. If it is not recognized so that only judges are unequally protected from disclosure and discovery, the outrage will stir up the public to demand transformative reform of the system of justice to ensure that judges are held equally liable to the compensatory sanctions of Rule 37 as well as all other kinds of damages.
- c. Abusees can claim an equal right to claim against judges as the right given abusees to sue pedophilic priests and the church that covered for them by the lookback laws adopted in the several states. The lookback either extends the number of years from a key event that the statute of limitations allows for suing the defendant or suspends the statute completely and allows suing during a certain future period of time.

E. OUT-OF-COURT strategy to inform and outrage the national public

23. More promising is for demanders of compensation from judges and their Judiciary to implement the out-of-court inform and outrage strategy. They can inform the national public of, and outrage it at, judges' abuse, criminality, and cover-up so as to stir the public up to compel politicians, lest they be voted out of, or not into, office, to investigate judges and hold them liable to their victims.

1. Informing the public through politicians and abusees' stories

- 24. The compensation demanders can seek out allies of result: Principled and opportunistic politicians running in the primaries for the 2022 mid-term elections who may be convinced that they can benefit electorally if at every rally, townhall meeting, and interview they vow and call on all politicians and journalists to:
 - a. investigate judges officially and journalistically for:
 - 1) advancing their financial interests by failing to recuse and for other abuses that cause many more victims:
 - 2) failing to read the majority of briefs, each of which costs $1Ks and even $10Ks to produce and generates compensable waste; and
 - 3) intercepting people's emails and mail to detect and suppress those of their critics;
 - b. petition President Biden to release the FBI's secret vetting reports on judicial candidates;
 - c. ask everybody who ever filed a complaint against a judge or has a story of abuse by judges that they have suffered or witnessed to send a copy to the journalists and members of the Biden Commission for the reform of the Supreme Court below. Let every storyteller apply the two-phase method for writing in up to 500 words their story.
 - In sharing their complaints and stories about judges, the storytellers will be exercising the rights most cherished by We the People, namely, those guaranteed under the 1st Amendment to the Constitution to "freedom of speech, of the press, the right of the people peaceably to assemble [through the Internet and on social media too], and to petition the Government [of which judges are the third branch] for a redress of grievances [including through the payment of compensation]".
 - 2) They can copy and paste the following blocs of email addresses in the To: and cc: boxes, respectively, of the email containing their complaint or story.

d. cause media outlets and students and their professors to join forces to hold the proposed UNPRECEDENTED CITIZENS HEARINGS. At media stations and auditoriums of journalism, law, business, Information Technology, and social sciences schools, and via video conference they can hold hearings to give people the opportunity to tell the national public their story of judges' abuse of power and financial criminality that they have suffered or witnessed.

2. An investigation to gain information from "little people" and confidential informants; and pioneering its reporting

- 25. Through a mutually reinforcing process the information provided through politicians and the stories will strengthen journalists' commercial and reputational interest in investigating judges' abuse and criminality: "Scandal sells" and reporting it can win Pulitzer Prizes. Journalists can:
 - a. conduct a focused and cost-effective investigation by starting off from the abundance of leads already gathered(OL:194§E);
 - b. interview 'little people', such as waiters, waitresses, maids, bartenders, bellboys, drivers, and receptionists at conference centers, hotels, yachts, and private/country clubs, whom the judges deemed too dumb to understand their bragging in the presence of other judges and VIPs about their latest or most daring way of grabbing gain and convenience by disregarding due process requirements and taking advantage of confidential information discussed in chambers by the parties; ex-parte; submitted under seal; and revealed for a bribe;
 - c. search for Deep Throat(jur:106§c) in Court: former and current court and law clerks, judges, and lawyers, who driven by idealism signed on to be Workers of Justice only to be disgusted by becoming 'Three Monkey' enforcers of abuse and can now redeem themselves by becoming confidential informants;
- 26. Disseminating the information obtained can lead to Pioneering the news and publishing field of judicial unaccountability reporting. It can open the way to the investigation and publication of an Annual Report on Judicial Unaccountability and Consequent Abuse of Power.

F. Developing this outline at a webinar or by consultation; and other services

- 27. If you would like to have me present this article either via video conference or in person at a webinar with slides for you and your colleagues and guests, you can let me know by using my contact information in the letterhead above. To ascertain my capacity to make a presentation you may view my video and follow it on its slides. You can also let me know if you wish to:
 - a. consult with me and/or retain me to write a brief or a statement for you;
 - b. publish one or a series of my already written and downloadable articles(Appendix 6§A) on judicial abuse of power and financial criminality exposure, compensation of abusees, and reform through transformative change; or commission an article(¶77); etc.(¶48);
 - c. hold together with journalists, students and professors, media outlets, and specialized schools the proposed UNPRECEDENTED CITIZENS HEARINGS(para. 24.d supra);
 - 1) promote the citizens hearings by sponsoring a tour of presentations at schools and other venues(OL:197§G); and
 - 2) organize the first-ever conference on judges' abuse and criminality in connivance with politicians, who fear their devastating power of retaliation(Lsch:17§C). There the citizens hearings report will be presented interactively here and abroad. This can launch a global MeToo!, BLM-like movement where people shout their self-assertive rallying cry Enough is enough! We won't take any abuse from anybody anymore.
 - d. invest capital or expertise in the development of the website at http://www.Judicial-Discipline-Reform.org to monetize its public appeal, proven by its 42,077+ subscribers, and make the site the center of a multidisciplinary academic and business venture, as described in its business plan, which is guided by the motto "Making Money While Doing Justice". The investment can turn the site from an informational platform into:
 - 1) a clearinghouse for complaints against judges that anybody can upload;
 - 2) a research center for fee-paying clients auditing judges' decisions and searching many other writings from many sources that through computer-assisted statistical, linguistic, and literary analysis can reveal the most persuasive type of evidence: judges' patterns, trends, and schemes of abuse of power; and
 - 3) the showroom and shopping portal of a multidisciplinary academic and business venture(jur:119§§1-4). It can evolve into the Institute of Judicial Unaccountability Reporting and Reform Advocacy, to be attached to a university or a news network;
 - e. help form a national, single issue, apolitical, civic movement for We the People, the Masters of all public servants, to hold judicial public servants accountable for the exercise of the public power entrusted to them for the People's good and liable to the victims of its abuse.
- 28. With their informing and reporting recognized as work in the public interest, demanders of collective compensation and journalists can become the People's Champions of Justice. So can you:
 - a. Share this article with your friends, relatives, and others, and post it to social media widely so that it informs and outrages the national public; rallies ever more demanders; and sets in motion the movement for holding judges accountable for their performance and liable to compensation. Make it go viral.

Dare trigger history!...and you may enter it.

B. Subjects for commissioning one or a series of articles

- 128. judges' unaccountability(>OL:265) and their riskless abuse of power(>jur:5§3; OL:154§3);
- 129. statistical analysis for the public([†]>OL2:455§§B-E, 608§A) and for researchers(jur:131§b);
- 130. significance of federal circuit judges disposing of 93% of appeals in decisions "on procedural grounds [i.e., the pretext of "lack of jurisdiction"], unsigned, unpublished, by consolidation, without comment", which are unresearched, reasonless, ad-hoc, arbitrary, fiat-like orders, in practice unappealable(OL2:453);
- 131. to receive 'justice services' (OL2:607) parties pay courts filing fees, which constitute consideration, whereby a contract arises between them to be performed by the judges, who know that they will in most cases not even read their briefs(OL2:608§A), so that courts engage in false advertisement, fraud in the inducement, and breach of contract(OL2:609§2);
- 132. Justiceship Nominee Judge Neil Gorsuch said, "An attack on one of our brothers and sisters of the robe is an attack on all of us": judges' gang mentality and abusive hitting back(OL2:546);
- 133. fair criticism of judges who fail to "avoid even the appearance of impropriety" (jur:68123a);
- 134. abuse-enabling clerks(OL2:687), who fear arbitrary removal without recourse(jur:30§1);
- 135. law clerks' vision at the end of their clerking for a judge of the latter's glowing letter of recommendation (OL2:645§B) to a potential employer morally blinds them to their being used by the judge as executioners of his or her abuse;
- 136. judges dismiss 99.82% of complaints against them(jur:10-14; OL2:548), thus arrogating to themselves impunity by abusing their self-disciplining authority(jur:21§a);
- 137. escaping the futility of suing judges(OL2:713, 609§1): the out-of-court inform and outrage strategy to stir up the public into holding them accountable and liable to compensation(OL2:581);

- 138. how law professors and lawyers act in self-interest to cover up for judges so as to spare themselves and their schools, cases, and firms retaliation(jur:81§1; Lsch:17§C): their system of harmonious interests against the interests of the parties and the public(OL2:635, 593¶15);
- 139. turning insiders into Deep Throats(jur:106§C); outsiders into informants(OL2:468); and judges into criers of 'MeToo! Abusers'(OL2:682¶¶7,8) that issue an I accuse!(jur:98§2) denunciation of judges' abuse: thinking and acting strategically(OL2:635, 593¶15) to expose judges' abuse by developing allies who want to become Workers of Justice(OL2:687), as opposed to being enforcers of abuse or enablers by endorsement or willful ignorance or blindness;
- 140. two unique national stories, not to replace a rogue judge, but to topple an abusive judiciary:
 - a. Follow the money! as judges grab(OL2:614), conceal(jur:65^{107a,c}), and launder(105²¹³) it;
 - b. The Silence of the Judges: their warrantless, 1st Amendment freedom of speech, press, and assembly-violative interception of people's emails and mail to detect and suppress those of their critics(OL2:582§C;OL3:1228);
 - made all the more credible by Former CBS Reporter Sharryl Attkisson's $35 million suit against the Department of Justice for its illegal intrusion into her computers to spy on her ground-breaking investigation and embarrassing reporting(OL2:612§b);
 - by using Information Technology examination and statistical analysis, such interception and contents-based suppression can be exposed, which will provoke a scandal graver than that resulting from Edward Snowden's revelations of NSA's massive illegal collection of only nonpersonally identifiable metadata(OL2:583§3);
 - the exposure can be bankrolled as discreetly as Peter Thiel, co-founder of PayPal, bankrolled the suit of Hulk Hogan against the tabloid Gawker for invasion of privacy and thereby made it possible to prosecute and win a judgment for more than $140 million(OL2:528);
 - 4) principles can be asserted and money made by exposing judges' interception;
- 141. launching a Harvey Weinstein-like(jur:4¶¶10-14) generalized media investigation into judges' abuse of power as their institutionalized modus operandi; conducted also by journalists and me with the benefit of the numerous leads(OL:194§E) that I have gathered;
- 142. Black Robed Predators(OL:85) or the making of a documentary as an original video content by a media company or an investigative TV show, with the testimony of judges' victims, clerks, lawyers, faculty, and students; and crowd funding to attract to its making and viewing the crowd that advocate honest judiciaries and the victims of judges' abuse of power;
- 143. promoting the unprecedented to turn judges' abuse of power into a key mid-term elections issue and thereafter insert it in the national debate:
 - a. the holding by journalists, newsanchors, media outlets, and law, journalism, business, and IT schools in their own commercial, professional, and public interest as We the People's loudspeakers of nationally and statewide televised citizens hearings(OL2:675§2, 580§2) on judges' unaccountability and consequent riskless abuse;
 - a forensic investigation by Information Technology experts to determine whether judges intercept the communications of their critics(OL2:633§D, OL2:582§C);
 - c. suits by individual parties and class actions to recover from judges, courts, and judiciaries filing fees paid by parties as consideration for 'justice services'(OL2:607) offered by the judges although the latter knew that it was mathematically(OL2:608§A; 457§D) impossible for them to deliver those services to all filed cases; so the judges committed false advertisement and fraud in the inducement to the formation of service contracts, and thereafter breach of contract by having their court and law clerks perfunctorily dispose of cases by filling out "dumping forms"(OL2:608 ¶ 5);

- d. suits by clients to recover from their lawyers attorneys' fees charged for prosecuting cases that the lawyers knew or should have known(jur:90§§b, c) the judges did not have the manpower to deliver, or the need or the incentive to deal with personally, whereby the lawyers committed fraud by entering with their clients into illusory contracts that could not obtain the sought-for 'justice services'; and
- e. suits in the public interest to recover the public funds paid to judges who have failed to earn their salaries by routinely not putting in an honest day's work, e.g., closing their courts before 5:00 p.m., thus committing fraud on the public and inflicting injury in fact on the parties who have been denied justice through its delay(cf. OL2:571¶24a);
- 144. how parties can join forces to combine and search their documents for communality points (OL:274-280; 304-307) that permit the detection of patterns of abuse by one or more judges, which patterns the parties can use to persuade journalists to investigate their claims of abuse;
- 145. the development of my website Judicial Discipline Reform at http://www.Judicial-Discipline-Reform.org, which as of February 24, 2022, had 43,312+ subscribers, into:
 - a. a clearinghouse for complaints against judges uploaded by the public;
 - b. a research center for professionals and parties(OL2:575) to search documents for the most persuasive evidence of abuse: patterns of abuse by the same judge presiding over their cases, the judges of the same court, and the judges of a judiciary; and
 - c. the showroom and shopping portal of a multidisciplinary academic and business venture (jur:119§§1-4). It can be the precursor of the institute of judicial unaccountability reporting and reform advocacy attached to a top university or established by a consortium of media outlets and academic institutions(jur:130§5);
- 146. a tour of presentations(OL:197§G) by me sponsored by you on:
 - a. judges' abuse(jur:5§3; OL:154 ¶ 3);
 - b. development of software to conduct fraud and forensic accounting(OL:42, 60); and to perform thanks to artificial intelligence a novel type of statistical, linguistic, and literary analysis of judges' decisions and other writings(jur:131§b) to detect bias and disregard of the requirements of due process and equal protection of the law;
 - c. promoting the participation of the audience in the investigation(OL:115) into judges' abuse; and their development of local chapters of investigators/researchers that coalesce into a Tea Party-like single issue, civic movement(jur:164§9) for holding judges accountable and liable to their victims: the People's Sunrise(OL:201§J);
 - d. announcement of a Continuing Legal Education course, a webinar, a seminar, and a writing contest(*>ddc:1), which can turn the audience into clients and followers;
- 147. a multimedia, multidisciplinary public conference(jur:97§1; *>dcc:13§C) on judges' abuses held at a top university(OL2:452) to pioneer the reporting thereon in our country and abroad;
- 148. the call of the constitutional convention(OL:136§3) that 34 states have petitioned Congress to convene since April 2, 2014, satisfying the amending provisions of the Constitution, Article V.
